Josh earned his Bachelor of Arts and Masters of Public Affairs degrees from Indiana University. He's worked as a fundraiser for Indiana University and Southern Illinois University Edwardsville, and as a consultant for non-profit organizations in Mexico City. As the Director of Development for Hillel, Josh's goal is to ensure the organization's success through active community engagement. Josh grew up in Connecticut and South Florida. He loves sports and enjoys bowling, golf, rock-climbing and snowboarding. His wife, Evie, is an anthropologist and together they have an adorable son named Jacob.
